Capturing your day

♥ -The basics-

So, if there was one thing I could change about my wedding what would it be? The photography! There, I said it. We had a friend take our wedding photographs and while he takes a beautiful picture he was also there as our guest, with his wife and young baby. His focus was not solely on the pictures (fair enough) and he didn't have access to professional quality albums as an end product.

You are already one step ahead of me, as we have found each other (cue romantic music and sunset...)

I am not a package kind of girl, so I don't have a package kind of business. The only time I booked a package holiday was when I was 22 - it was a Twenties holiday and it was dreadful! Don't get me wrong I was with my best buddy and we had a blast, but just nah!

So if I don't do packages, what do I do? When a couple books me for their wedding I am at their disposal for the whole day, from preparations to dancing. No limited hours (within reason) no extra charges for staying that bit longer.

I include a pre-wedding shoot and a set of books as standard because I want you to have something beautiful to keep for ever
